

Matisse, Monet and Me™ introduces art history to children and encourages creative expression through the inspiration of an artist or culture. Our curriculum follows the Montessori art philosophy of "process vs. product". A new artist or culture is studied once a week until completion of our 3-year curriculum cycle. Primary students (3-6 year olds) are introduced to historical art ideas and learn how to manipulate various art media while developing their "pincher grip" needed for writing. Elementary students review artists in greater detail, experiment with various art media, fine-tune their motor skills and build on their eye/hand coordination.

If I notice a child is not emotionally ready for this class I may excuse them from a class at anytime and will let you know I have done so. If the behavior continues in a second class, they might not be admitted to a future class. Reasons for excusing may include: not following safety instructions, being destructive to materials, oneself or others during class time. There is not room for a child to act out in this environment as it they could cause harm to other students or themselves.

* There are no make-ups for missed classes. A pre-arranged absence may be pro-rated if the class is not full.

 Photographs taken during classes and may be used in literature or on website for promotion of Matisse, Monet & Me classes. (children's names will not be used)
